Debaters To Compete

The University of Kentucky debate team, from left, Karl Merchant, Barbourville; Jeff Langford, Louisville; Carl Brown, Louisville, and Jim Flegle, Bardwell, displaying trophies they won at the University of South Carolina tournament last week. They will debate at the Ohio State University tournament at Columbus this weekend.

Dr. Wirth In Dental Practice

Dr. G. Wirth has opened the practice of 10 East Main St. to 11 East Main St.

Myers Honored With DTD Award

J. Carlisle Myers, Jr., of Lexington has been cited to membership in the Distinguished Service Chapter of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. The award is the highest the fraternity can bestow. Mr. Myers was honored at the Founders Day banquet.

Deadly Dust

When bugs invaded the melon fields, they enlisted the services of a dusting company. The company promptly sent out a spray to field. But the prevailing breeze carried the dust directly to the field on the neighbor's farm, where several hundred thousand bees were the result. The court ruled that the company was not responsible for the wind and the company was not liable. The court granted the claim. The court held that the company was not responsible for the wind and the company was not liable. The company was not liable.