Course Description

Composition and Communication II is the advanced course in a two-course sequence designed to engage students in composing and communicating ideas using speech, writing, and visuals. In this course, students work in small groups to explore issues of public concern using rhetorical analysis, engage in deliberation, compose conscientious and well-developed arguments, and propose viable solutions to different audiences. Students will sharpen their ability to conduct research; compose and communicate in spoken, written, and visual forms; and work effectively in teams through sustained interrogation of an issue. A significant component of the class will involve learning to use visual and digital resources both to enhance written and oral presentations and to communicate with public audiences. Prerequisite: CIS 110/WRD 110 or equivalent.

Course Prerequisite Knowledge and Skill Expectations

This class is part of a two-course sequence. You will need to have the fundamental competencies from CIS 110 or its equivalent in order to be successful.

You are expected to be proficient with the following skills upon entering CIS 111:

- Compose written texts and deliver oral presentations that represent relevant and informed points of view appropriate for the audience, purpose, and occasion
- Analyze, create, and use visual media as both independent and interconnected forms of communication
- Demonstrate an awareness of appropriate strategies used to communicate effectively in different situations (e.g. public speaking, interpersonal) and contexts (e.g. face-to-face, digital).
- Work with design elements (font, size, line, color) to successfully incorporate design principles (contrast, alignment, repetition, and proximity) as part of effective composition
- Employ research skills to find, analyze, evaluate, and properly cite pertinent primary and secondary sources using relevant discovery tools (e.g. InfoKat, Library Databases, Google) as part of the process of composing work in written, oral, and visual modes
- Organize, revise, practice, edit, and proofread (for grammar and mechanics) your own and other student work flexibly and effectively to improve the development and clarity of ideas

- Define goals for improving/revising work, and devise effective plans for achieving those goals, in collaboration with peers, instructor, and librarians
- Employ and evaluate interpersonal communication skills

Student Learning Outcomes

In this course, students will demonstrate the ability to:

- Compose at least one major, group-authored persuasive argument project for a public audience using written, oral, and visual modes grounded in scholarly research in a manner that is appropriate and effective for the audience, purpose, and occasion in both a face-to-face and digital environment
- Conduct significant, effective research on a subject as an individual and as part of a team, using the resources of the UK Libraries and other relevant resources to enrich speaking, writing, and digital projects
- Employ advanced strategies for developing and analyzing arguments as an individual and in groups using relevant rhetorical theories, with greater emphasis on addressing and mediating issues of public interest
- Identify and address community stakeholders in an issues of public interest as part of thoughtful and efficient audience analysis
- Think critically in both the conception and the development of written, oral, and visual arguments
- Refine your formal speaking, writing, and visual communication skills, focusing on matters of construction, design, and delivery, keeping audience, purpose, and occasion in mind
- Critique thoughtfully the work of peers and professionals
- Organize, revise, practice, edit, and proofread (for grammar and mechanics) your own and other student work flexibly and effectively to improve the development and clarity of ideas

Course Policies

Attendance and Participation

This class is a community whose success depends on everyone's participation. Also, there is a strong correlation between class attendance and grades. Therefore, attendance is vital for your achievement. Attendance is worth 60 points during the semester. Each class period, you will be asked to do a short "warmup" writing or speaking activity during the first 5 minutes of class. If you come after the first 5 minutes of class, you will not receive your attendance points for the day. These assignments will not be formally graded; rather, you will be awarded points for completion. Attendance points will be recorded in Canvas at least every two weeks so you may monitor your attendance progress. Two "freebie coupons" are available to print on canvas. You are entitled to 2 unexcused absences, no questions asked, but the freebie coupons may not be used on any speech or peer review day. You must turn your coupon in to your instructor the class period following your absence in order to redeem it.

If you are absent on a day when an assignment is due, you will be allowed to hand in or make up that work only if the absence is officially excused. You will be asked to provide official written documentation for excused absences within one week of the absence. If you do not turn in the written documentation on time, the absence will be counted as unexcused. Please see the definition of excused absences in the next section.

If you know ahead of time that you will be absent from class without an unexcused absence, please discuss this with your instructor and turn in any assignments ahead of time. Excuses for university-sponsored activities must be made prior to such absences. No make-up work is available for in-class exercises or workshops unless approved in advance by your instructor.

Note: Students are required to attend class whenever any student is scheduled to speak. If you miss class on a speaking day, 5 points will be deducted from your course grade. Students are strongly encouraged to withdraw from the class if more than 20% of the scheduled classes for the semester are missed per university policy.

Note: Please reference the definition of excused absences in the current edition of Student Rights and Responsibilities or on the web at <http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/>. For any emergency situation that arises, e-mail your instructor as soon as you know about the situation.

Excused Absences

Students need to notify the professor of absences prior to class when possible. S.R. 5.2.4.2 defines the following as acceptable reasons for excused absences: (a) serious illness, (b) illness or death of family member, (c) University-related trips, (d) major religious holidays, and (e) other circumstances found to fit "reasonable cause for nonattendance" by the professor.

Students anticipating an absence for a major religious holiday are responsible for notifying the instructor in writing of anticipated absences due to their observance of such holidays no later than the last day in the semester to add a class. Information regarding dates of major religious holidays may be obtained through the religious liaison, Mr. Jake Karnes (859-257-2754).

Verification of Absences

Students may be asked to verify their absences in order for them to be considered excused. Senate Rule 5.2.4.2 states that faculty have the right to request “appropriate verification” when students claim an excused absence because of illness or death in the family. Appropriate notification of absences due to university-related trips is required prior to the absence. In this course, you must provide appropriate documentation of an excused absence within one week of the absence.

Academic Integrity

Per university policy, students shall not plagiarize, cheat, or falsify or misuse academic records. Students are expected to adhere to University policy on cheating and plagiarism in all courses. The minimum penalty for a first offense is a zero on the assignment on which the offense occurred. If the offense is considered severe or the student has other academic offenses on their record, more serious penalties, up to suspension from the university may be imposed.

Plagiarism and cheating are serious breaches of academic conduct. Each student is advised to become familiar with the various forms of academic dishonesty as explained in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Complete information can be found at the following website: <http://www.uky.edu/Ombud>. A plea of ignorance is not acceptable as a defense against the charge of academic dishonesty. It is important that you review this information as all ideas borrowed from others need to be properly credited.

Part II of Student Rights and Responsibilities (available online <http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/part2.html>) states that all academic work, written or otherwise, submitted by students to their instructors or other academic supervisors, is expected to be the result of their own thought, research, or self-expression. In cases where students feel unsure about the question of plagiarism involving their own work, they are obliged to consult their instructors on the matter before submission.

When students submit work purporting to be their own, but which in any way borrows ideas, organization, wording or anything else from another source without appropriate acknowledgement of the fact, the students are guilty of plagiarism. Plagiarism includes reproducing someone else’s work, whether it be a published article, chapter of a book, a paper from a friend or some file, or something similar to this. Plagiarism also includes the practice of employing or allowing another person to alter or revise the work which a student submits as his/her own, whoever that other person may be. Students may discuss assignments among themselves or with an instructor or tutor, but when the actual work is done, it must be done by the student, and the student alone. When a student's assignment involves research in outside sources of information, the student must carefully acknowledge exactly what, where and how he/she employed them. If the words of someone else are used, the student must put quotation marks around the passage in question and add an appropriate indication of its origin. Making simple changes while leaving the organization, content and phraseology intact is plagiaristic. However, nothing in these Rules shall apply to those ideas which are so generally and freely circulated as to be a part of the public domain (Section 6.3.1).

Please note: Any assignment you turn in may be submitted to an electronic database to check for plagiarism.

Accommodations Due to Disability

If you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations, please see me as soon as possible during scheduled office hours. In order to receive accommodations in this course, you must provide me with a Letter of Accommodation from the Disability Resource Center (Multidisciplinary Science Building, Suite 407, at the corner of Rose Street and Huguelet Drive, 859-257-2754, email address: dtbeac1@uky.edu) for coordination of campus disability services available to students with disabilities.

Military Members and Veterans

We recognize the complexities of being a member of the military community and also a student. If you are a member of the military or a military veteran or dependent, please inform your instructor if you are in need of special accommodations. Drill schedules, calls to active duty, mandatory training exercises, complications with GI Bill disbursement, and other unforeseen military and veteran related developments can complicate your academic life. If you are aware of a complication, we will work with you and put you in contact with university staff members who are trained to assist you. Please contact the Coordinator of the University of Kentucky Veterans Resource Center at 859-257-1148 for additional assistance. Visit <http://www.uky.edu/veterans> for more available resources.

Classroom Policies

We will have fun this semester, and there will be a great deal of give and take in our discussions. But we will only have fun if you conduct yourself with respect for yourself and others. This means you are to 1) come to class prepared (do all reading and come prepared to discuss it; do all homework) and take pride in the work you do, 2) offer support and encouragement to your classmates, 3) listen to others carefully before offering your opinion, and 4) talk to your instructor outside of class if anything that happens during class bothers you. In order to maintain a productive work environment, silence your cell phone before each class period and refrain from eating, sleeping, social media, talking once class is in session unless asked to do so, and entering the classroom late or leaving early without permission. Students who engage in disruptive behavior may be directed to leave the class for the remainder of the class period. See the UKY's Code of Student Conduct for further information on prohibited conduct.

Submission of Assignments

All written assignments (first/rough and final drafts) MUST be submitted in a .doc, .docx, or .pdf format to Canvas.

Late Assignments

All assignments are due at the beginning of class, at the time indicated in the class schedule, or as specified in class. Some assignments will not be accepted late (such as the pre and post test, drafts, etc.) Points will be deducted for any late assignments. Once an assignment has been collected or the due date/time has passed, 10% will automatically be deducted from the total score for that assignment. An additional 10% will be deducted for each extra day (24 hour period) that an assignment is late, up to three days. After three days have passed, late assignments will no longer be accepted and you will receive a zero. Emailed assignments will not be accepted. You may not miss class on the day of a peer review, workshop, or speaking day. You may not write your assignments during class unless you are directed to do so.

Failing to present on the day you are scheduled to speak results in at least a 30% deduction from your final speech grade.

Murphy's Law: "Anything that can go wrong, will go wrong." Laptops are stolen. Printers run out of ink. Hard drives crash. The campus wireless connection fails. So, do not wait until the last minute to submit your assignments and SAVE OFTEN.

- Always save duplicates of your work on an external source (e.g., flash/thumb drive, Google Drive, Dropbox.com)!
- For your protection, keep all assignments that are graded and handed back to you until final grades have been submitted at the end of the semester.

Check Three, Then Me

Although I truly enjoy communicating with my students about class, I sometime find myself asking questions that could be answered by merely consulting the syllabus. Thus, before e-mailing me, please follow these steps:

1. Consult the class schedule and syllabus.
2. Check Canvas.
3. Consider asking a classmate.

Being a Respectful Audience Member: First, attend all presentations, whether you are speaking or not. Second, be courteous and attentive. Third, remove all objects (phones, computers, newspapers, speaking notes, etc.) that might distract you. I take this policy quite seriously. I reserve the right to reduce a disrespectful audience member's grade if I observe egregious offenses.

Responsible Technology Use

E-mail: Throughout the semester, you will receive e-mails from me with updates and reminders. You are expected to regularly check your official UKY e-mail address – if information is sent to you via email and you do not read it in time to adjust accordingly, this is not the fault of your instructor.

Email is the best and preferred way to reach me and I will be checking it frequently throughout the business day (i.e., Monday-Friday 9:00am-5:00pm). Please know that while I might sometimes answer emails outside of these times, I also have a wife and son that deserve my time and attention. Send all email correspondence to the email address provided above, and section and class time in the subject line.

Additionally, use your emails as an opportunity to practice good communication ☺ All emails should include an appropriate greeting (e.g., "Hello, Mr. Martin," "Hi, professor," etc.), a message including full sentences, professional language, correct spelling, grammar, and capitalization, and an appropriate closing. Writing emails to your friends/family can be informal, but when you start writing emails to your instructors, professors and potential employers, they should be well written with as few mistakes as possible.

Cell Phones/Laptops/Tablets:

Learning requires focus. Thus, unless we are using your personal devices for a class-related activity, they should be put away.

- Throughout the semester, we will be using your devices to conduct online research, collectively brainstorm, etc. We will refer to these technology-related activities as "screen up" time. During announced "screen up" time, you will be encouraged to use your devices liberally.
- However, many of our class periods will be "screen down," meaning that your personal devices should be put away so they don't tempt you. This is especially true during speeches or if a video is being shown. The only exception is if you have official documentation from Disability Services indicating that a laptop or similar device is necessary for your learning.
- Turn cell phones on silent for the duration of class. Not on vibrate, but silent. This includes all devices that make noise (texts, calendar alerts, music, etc.).
- Inappropriate media use greatly increases your chances of being called on and pulled back into the class discussion. If it continues, I will ask you to leave.

Peer Groups

Because most writers, educators, and other professionals must learn to work collaboratively, you will collaborate with your peers both in and out of class. I will ask you to form groups this semester. Treat everyone in this class as a valued colleague, and you will have few problems. That means that you will honor all deadlines agreed to by your classmates as though I was the one who set them and in general be respectful. Consequences for "slacking" may result in anything ranging from a full letter grade deduction for the assignment to a zero (determined on a case-by-case basis).

Extra Credit

I may identify extra credit opportunities during the course of the semester that will augment what we're doing in the classroom. These opportunities may include research study participation, campus events, Presentation U Power Hours, etc. Extra credit is not guaranteed and the maximum number of points you may receive is ten. If extra credit is offered, it will be announced in class and/or posted on Canvas.

Canvas

Things happen over the course of a semester, which means that the daily schedule may change during the semester. You will be responsible for checking the online syllabus and schedule before beginning your homework for each of our class meetings for any changes or updates. I will post all assignments on Canvas. If you lose an assignment page or handout, you are expected to get a copy from Canvas rather than from me.

Description of Course Activities and Assignments

This semester, you will complete an array of major assignments, each of which will have an oral, written, and visual component. You will revise your projects based on instructor comments and comments by your classmates. You will also complete several minor assignments to demonstrate writing, small group, and persuasive speaking skills, as well as persuasive writing, interpersonal, group dynamics, and public speaking evaluation skills.

Pre-test/Post-test (10 points)

Each CIS 111 student is required to complete a pre-test at the beginning of the semester and a post-test at the end of the semester for departmental assessment purposes. These will be completed online and you will receive credit for these assignments; your answers will not affect your grade. You will receive 10 pts for completing these two assignments (5 pts each). Each test will take approximately 30 minutes to complete. You can find the pretest at: <http://comm.uky.edu/courses/CIS111/pretest> and opens January 13; the pretest closes at 11:59 p.m. on Friday, January 22. The posttest opens on Wednesday, April 20 at <http://comm.uky.edu/courses/CIS111/posttest> and closes at 11:59 p.m. on Sunday, May 1. There are no late submissions or make-ups for these assignments.

Video Introduction (10 points)

You will prepare a brief 1-2 minute video introduction of yourself and post it to the Discussion Board on Canvas. This is your chance to introduce yourself to your instructor and your classmates. All videos should include name, major, year in school, and then a little about what makes you unique. Include an aspect of yourself that others may find interesting or surprising. This will help me (and your classmates) remember your name (for example, "Oh yes, Tim, you're the student who rides a unicycle around campus.").

This I Believe Speech (20 points)

This is a 3-minute speech where you introduce yourself and share your own statement of personal belief. You will focus on one core belief and support why you hold this core belief using specific examples and events from your life experiences. For example, you may share a time when you first developed the belief and/or a time when it was further clarified or even modified. Support for this speech will come from personal experiences and stories; no outside research is required. You must include at least one object, picture, or other visual aid (projected onscreen so it is easily visible to all those in your audience) to help support what you are saying. Examples of this type of storytelling are available at <http://thisibelieve.org/>

Ad Gone Bad Mini-Paper (25 points)

In order to construct a strong argument, it is often helpful to breakdown an argument – particularly one that didn't work well. Based on class readings, you will analyze an "Ad Gone Bad." After selecting an ad that didn't work from those provided by your instructor, you will explain how the persuasion didn't work in the ad and where you think the argument broke down. The paper will be 2-3 pages, include 1 image, and have, at the minimum, the textbook cited as a source. This paper will be written in APA format. This mini-paper will be submitted under Assignments in Canvas.

Annotated Bibliography (25 points)

In order to help you evaluate sources for your issue paper focused on a national/international public issue of importance to you (see Week 9), you will first create an annotated bibliography.

The annotated bibliography assignment asks you to provide annotations for 5 credible sources. These annotations will include:

- An APA citation for the source
- A sentence summary of the source

- A sentence about the credibility of the source
- A sentence explaining how you plan to use the source in your paper

National/International Issue Paper (100 points)

As an individual, you will identify a controversial issue of national or international importance that you are interested in studying. This paper should be written for a “lay audience” – that is, anyone who is unfamiliar with your topic should still be able to understand the stance you are taking (you need to “pick a side” and argue it) and the evidence you use to support your claims.

Based on research you conduct to learn more about this topic, you will write a paper taking a clear position on this issue, while also addressing at least 1 opposing argument, using evidence and reasoning to support your claims. Your paper must be 1500 words (TNR, 12-point font, 1” margins, not including cover page, abstract, or references) and integrate at least 8 relevant and credible external sources as well as 2 images to support your ideas. It must be typed according to proper APA style. You will turn in a first draft as well as a final draft of this assignment.

Starting Line-Up Group Video Presentations (20 points)

As a group, you will participate in one social activity outside of class time before constructing a 3-4 minute video presentation. Your presentation will include, at the very least, your group name, group logo, and group motto, as well as describe the social activity you engaged in together. You will include things you learned about one another in the process. Each person must speak in the video. In addition, you are required to visit the Media Depot (in basement of W.T. Young Library) during the creation of this presentation.

Impromptu Speeches (10 points)

In preparation for the final speeches, you will be given a topic when you come to class and after a few minutes to prepare, will present an impromptu speech to the class.

Local/Community Issue Project (150 points)

Using Monroe’s Motivated Sequence as a guide, you will present a case intended to persuade your audience on a solution to an issue that has relevance to either the Lexington community or the University of Kentucky campus community. Instructors may provide you with a list of issue from which to choose, or instructors may let you choose your topics as a group. This will vary by instructor.

Groups consist of 4-6 members, and are assigned by the instructor. Each member of the group is required to speak for 4-6 minutes during the presentation. The presentation grade includes both a group component and an individual component.

Each team will also produce a brief (approx. 2 minute) video to complement its argument. It may take the form of a PSA, but must enhance the presentation in some way.

Speech: 100 points

Digital Project: 50 points

Final Reflective Video Speech (20 points)

Your final assignment is to provide some advice to incoming CIS 111 students. What was your favorite part of the course? What was the biggest challenge? What can they do to be particularly successful? What are the “big picture” lessons you’ll take with you as you go through the rest of your college career? This final reflective speech should be 2-3 minutes and may be shared with future students in CIS 111. Post this video to Canvas.

Group Dynamics Grade (10 points)

Throughout the semester, you will be working with a group on several projects, small and large. At the end of the term, you will be asked to provide a group dynamics assessment of each group member and yourself. This 10-point grade will be calculated based on how well you worked with your group based on both their assessment and my evaluation.

Outlines, drafts, peer reviews (50 points)

Throughout the semester, you will be asked to turn in drafts of your papers, outlines for your local/community issue project and the “This I Believe” speech, and you will participate in peer review of these items before you turn them in for a final grade.

MindTap Activities (40 points)

There will be a variety of ways to measure your engagement in the class and with the online course material. This engagement is to be completed prior to class time to prepare you to more fully participate in class.

Attendance (60 points)

Each class period, you will be asked to do a short “warm-up” writing or speaking assignment during the first 5 minutes of class. If you come after the first 5 minutes of class, you will not receive your attendance points for the day. These assignments will not be formally graded; rather, you will be awarded points for completion. Attendance points will be recorded in Canvas at least every two weeks so you may monitor your attendance progress.

Total Points: 550
