Course Description

Systems administrators install, maintain, and manage computer systems and servers that support small and large networks. We will learn how to administer these computer systems and servers with the Linux operating system. In the process, students will know how to install software, implement security policies, manage users, configure networks, evaluate logs, and automate processes.

Student Learning Outcomes

After completing this course, students will be able to:

- evaluate and apply technology resources (Program Learning Outcome);
- how to administer, maintain, and secure a Linux server; and,
- communicate using multiple modes of communication (Program Learning Outcome).

Required Texts

Soyinka, W. (2016). Linux administration: A beginner's guide (7th ed.). New York: MacGraw Hill Education. ISBN: 978-0-07-184536-6

Course Activities and Assignments

This course is taught as a face to face course. Most weeks will involve one lecture from the instructor, one demonstration from the instructor, and then demonstrations from the students. It is expected that students will devote a considerable amount of time to study the materials before each class session.

Class Assignments: Assignments constitute 50% of the student's grade. There are nine assignments in this course. A short description of each assignment follows, and fuller descriptions will be delivered in class at least three weeks before the assignment's due date.

Class Participation: Class participation constitutes 35% of the student's grade. Students are expected to read all assigned material before each class, and participate fully in discussions, demonstrations, and projects in each class. Participation includes attendance and contribution to discussions via question and answer sessions. In addition, students will be asked to give impromptu demonstrations each week that showcase the technical skills covered in the course and that help develop their ability to communicate about technical topics.

Group Project: The final group project constitutes 15% of the student's grade.

Course Policies

Attendance Policy

This is a class whose success is dependent on everyone's participation. Also, there is a strong correlation between class attendance and grades. Therefore, attendance is vital for your achievement.

If you are absent on a day when an in-class assignment or an exam is given, you will be allowed to make-up that work only if the absence is officially excused. You will be asked to provide official written documentation for excused absences within one week of your return to class. If you do not turn in the written documentation on time, the absence will be counted as unexcused. Please see the definition of excused absences in the next section.

If you know ahead of time that you will be absent from class without an excused absence, please discuss this with your instructor and turn in any assignments ahead of time. Excuses for university-sponsored activities must be made prior to such absences. For unexcused absences, no make-up work is available for in-class exercises, workshops, or exams unless approved in advance by your instructor.

Students have the right to withdraw from the class if more than 20% of the classes scheduled for the semester are missed (excused) per university policy.

Note: Please reference the definition of excused absence in the current edition of Students Rights and Responsibilities or on the web at <http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/Code/>.

For any emergency situation that arises, email your instructor as soon as you know about the situation.

Excused Absences

Students need to notify the professor of absences prior to class when possible. S.R. 5.2.4.2 defines the following as acceptable reasons for excused absences: (a) serious illness, (b) illness or death of family member, (c) University-related trips, (d) major religious holidays, and (e) other circumstances found to fit "reasonable cause for nonattendance" by the professor.

Students anticipating an absence for a major religious holiday are responsible for notifying the instructor in writing of anticipated absences due to their observance of such holidays no later than the last day in the semester to add a class. Information regarding dates of major religious holidays may be obtained through the religious liaison, Mr. Jake Karnes (859-257-2754).

Per Senate Rule 5.2.4.2, students missing any graded work due to an excused absence are responsible: for informing the Instructor of Record about their excused absence within one week following the period of the excused absence (except where prior notification is required); and for making up the missed work. The professor must give the student an opportunity to make up the work and/or the exams missed due to an excused absence, and shall do so, if feasible, during the semester in which the absence occurred.

Verification of Absences

Students may be asked to verify their absences in order for them to be considered excused. Senate Rule 5.2.4.2 states that faculty have the right to request "appropriate verification" when students claim an excused absence because of illness or death in the family. Appropriate notification of absences due to university-related trips is required prior to the absence.

Academic Integrity

Per University policy, students shall not plagiarize, cheat, or falsify or misuse academic records. Students are expected to adhere to University policy on cheating and plagiarism in all courses. The minimum penalty for a first offense is a zero on the assignment on which the offense occurred. If the offense is considered severe or the student has other academic offenses on their record, more serious penalties, up to suspension from the University may be imposed.

Plagiarism and cheating are serious breaches of academic conduct. Each student is advised to become familiar with the various forms of academic dishonesty as explained in the Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Complete information can be found at the following website: <http://www.uky.edu/Ombud>. A plea of ignorance is not acceptable as a defense against the charge of academic dishonesty. It is important that you review this information as all ideas borrowed from others need to be properly credited.

Senate Rules 6.3.1 (see <http://www.uky.edu/Faculty/Senate/> for the current set of Senate Rules) states that all academic work, written or otherwise, submitted by students to their instructors or other academic supervisors, is expected to be the result of their own thought, research, or self-expression. In cases where students feel unsure about a question of plagiarism involving their work, they are obliged to consult their instructors on the matter before submission.

When students submit work purporting to be their own, but which in any way borrows ideas, organization, wording, or content from another source without appropriate acknowledgment of the fact, the students are guilty of plagiarism.

Plagiarism includes reproducing someone else's work (including, but not limited to a published article, a book, a website, computer code, or a paper from a friend) without clear attribution. Plagiarism also includes the practice of employing or allowing another person to alter or revise the work, which a student submits as his/her own, whoever that other person may be. Students may discuss assignments among themselves or with an instructor or tutor, but when the actual work is done, it must be done by the student, and the student alone.

When a student's assignment involves research in outside sources or information, the student must carefully acknowledge exactly what, where and how he/she has employed them. If the words of someone else are used, the student must put quotation marks around the passage in question and add an appropriate indication of its origin. Making simple changes while leaving the organization, content, and phraseology intact is plagiaristic. However, nothing in these Rules shall apply to those ideas, which are so generally and freely circulated as to be a part of the public domain.

Please note: Any assignment you turn in may be submitted to an electronic database to check for plagiarism.

Accommodations Due to Disability

If you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations, please see me as soon as possible during scheduled office hours. In order to receive accommodations in this course, you must provide me with a Letter of Accommodation from the Disability Resource Center (DRC). The DRC coordinates campus disability services available to students with disabilities. It is located on the corner of Rose Street and Huguelet Drive in the Multidisciplinary Science Building, Suite 407. You can reach them via phone at (859) 257-2754 and via email at drc@uky.edu. Their web address is <http://www.uky.edu/StudentAffairs/DisabilityResourceCenter/>.

Military Members and Veterans

We recognize the complexities of being a member of the military community and also a student. If you are a member of the military or a military veteran or dependent, please inform your instructor if you are in need of special accommodations. Drill schedules, calls to active duty, mandatory training exercises, complications with GI Bill disbursement, and other unforeseen military and veteran related developments can complicate your academic life. If you are aware of a complication, we will work with you and put you in contact with university staff members who are trained to assist you. Please contact the Coordinator of the University of Kentucky Veterans Resource Center at (859) 257-1148 for additional assistance. Visit <http://www.uky.edu/veterans> for more available resources.

Civility and Professionalism

Ideally the classroom environment should be supportive and comfortable. Do not equate a relaxed atmosphere with a lack of academic standards. You are expected to be on time for class, be prepared for class and conduct yourself appropriately for a respectful academic environment. For example, frequent tardiness demonstrates a lack of respect for others and violates the values of this learning community. If you are late for class, enter the classroom with as little disruption as possible. Similarly, if you must leave the class early, leave with as little disruption to the activity in the class as possible. In case you miss class, it is your responsibility to obtain class notes from your classmate(s).

Students must learn to meet the standards of professional behavior and treat each other with respect. Critical inquiry is important, but attacking other persons, verbally or otherwise, is not accepted. Students must learn to receive and act on constructive criticism, be reliable and responsible, polite and respectable of others, and focus on producing above quality work.

Important Notes

- Be sure to complete readings prior to the class meeting.
- You are responsible for all information, announcements, and changes addressed in classes and/or Canvas.
- The instructor reserves the right to alter the syllabus during the semester, if necessary.

Discussing Grades

Students who have grade or exam concerns must approach the professor during office hours, or through appointment. In order to give our full attention to grade issues, the professor will NOT discuss grades or exams before or after class. Once grades are posted online, you may visit the professor during office hours or by appointment to review your exam. Grades will not be discussed over email or the telephone.

I operate with the 24/7 rule. This means that, once you receive a graded assignment back, you must wait at least 24 hours to come and discuss it with me. I am more than happy to discuss grades with you, but ask that you take the time to thoroughly review the feedback provided beforehand and carefully compare your work with the assignment requirements and grading rubric. Students need to contact the professor for an appointment to discuss the issue and you must also come and talk to me within one week (7 days) of receiving the grade. Once that one-week period has passed, the grade will not be changed under any circumstances. Students must bring a written explanation of their dispute with them to this appointment. If the matter is still unresolved, students need to contact the Instructional Communication Coordinator. Students that do not fulfill these requirements will not be addressed and the original grades will be final.
